NOTE TO INTRODUCER:

Mike has no ego attached to this introduction. If you want to use it, great! If you don't want to use it, feel free not to! If there is something else you would rather say, feel free to.

It is hard to know what an audience wants to hear about a speaker before he speaks. I generally think that most audiences would rather skip this part and get on with the talk. But just in case you need to know a little something about him.....

- Mike Staver is a coach to leaders across North America.
- Our nation's foremost media outlets have invited Mike to share his thoughts on what it takes to lead courageously.
- Mike was chosen as one of the 40 hottest business speakers in America by Meetings and Conventions magazine and his new book "Leadership Isn't for Cowards" was released in 2013.
- Mike has a Bachelor's in Business and a Masters in Psychology.

There's probably more but let's skip that for now and get on with what he has to say. Please help me in welcoming MIKE STAVER!!
